

1

“Erosion III”

George and Scott MacDonald

Beaverton, OR

Cast Glass and Concrete

Our Approach: Geourban Design.

The (human) engineered world is a geological formation. Although obviously created by people, our buildings and structures are still subject to the same natural processes, any rock or mineral would be, such as weathering and erosion.