Elementary School Architects to Share First Schematic Designs on September 14th

The community is invited to join in the conversation surrounding the rejuvenation of the former Cannon Beach Elementary School on September 14th.

There, architects will present the first round of preliminary schematic designs and gather feedback to guide further design iterations.

"This is something that the community has looked forward to for a number of years," says City Manager Bruce St. Denis. "And we're finally at the point that we're starting to look at designs. It's a big moment for Cannon Beach."

The event takes place in the city hall council chambers at 6PM, September 14th. It can also be accessed virtually via Zoom.

City Welcomes New Administrative Assistant to Finance Team

The newest member of city staff, Duncan Wallace, joined the finance department as an administrative assistant on August 1st.

As a part of the finance team, Wallace's duties include assisting with accounts payable, time keeping, and utility-related customer support.

Cannon Beach residents may recognize Wallace from his previous job at U.S. Bank. (After working at the Cannon Beach bank branch, Wallace spent the last few years in the bank's Astoria location.

Besides handling money and an attention to detail, Wallace believes his experience at the bank has prepared him for working with the city.

"I feel like, at a foundational level, there are some similarities in banking and working for a municipality—at least in the finance department," Wallace says.

Like at the bank, Wallace's position will be public-facing, staffing the front desk, handling cash, working with utility customers and keeping records.

In a month on the job, he's already feeling part of the team.

"I just like how small the departments are," Wallace says. "You can feel the connection between the departments."

Wallace grew up in Atascadero, California, located centrally in San Luis Obispo County. There, he developed passions for surfing and the outdoors.

Wallace went to Southridge high school in the Beaverton area before receiving a B.S. in Business Administration with a focus in Management from Oregon State University.

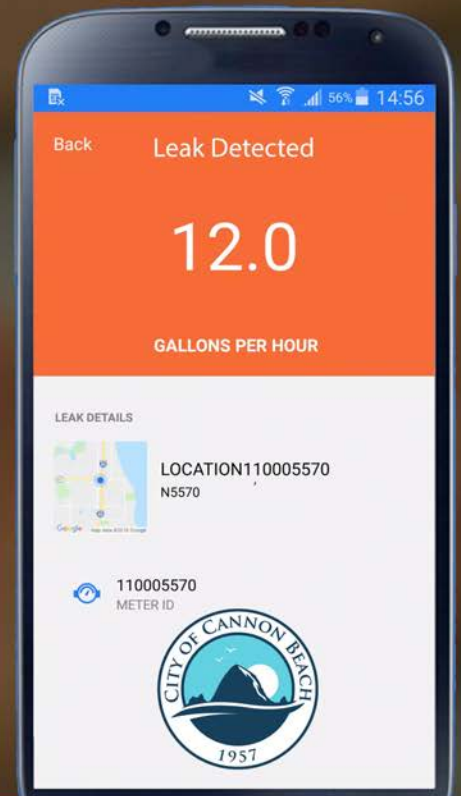

Wallace and his wife Lindsey welcomed their first child, Duncan Wallace IV, last year.

After years working in Cannon Beach, Wallace says he's excited to return to the community.

"It just felt right to come back," he says. "I kind of fell in love with being part of the community and helping people at a personal level."
